Arctic Futures 2050 emphasizes looking ahead; considering what partnerships and tools are needed to inform policy with scientific and Indigenous knowledge. The Ways Forward panel will summarize and reflect upon the presentations and discussions during the three-day conference. What basic and applied research already underway needs to be sustained and what new research needs to be initiated to meet anticipated policy needs? What collaborations are needed to meet those needs? What steps are needed in the short-term to long-term to realize such collaborations? What platforms offer opportunities for continuing dialogues begun but not finished at Arctic Futures 2050?
